

Our company gives employees 14 days of annual leave per year.

Leave requests are sent to the manager for approval.

Employees can apply for leave through the company's human resources system.

Remote employees must use a VPN.

Company computers are updated regularly.

Employees must use a secure connection when they connect to company systems.

Salaries are paid at the end of each month.

Salary information is kept private for each employee.

Payslips can be viewed through each employee's personal account.

All employees must attend security training.

New employees learn the company policies during their first week.

Employees must use company resources for work purposes only.

Annual performance reviews take place at the end of each year.

Managers hold performance meetings with employees.

Performance results are used in employee development plans.